THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 30.

How Snakes Swallow Frogs.-A snake is more than a match for a frog in a footrace. The greatest trouble is to swallow the from after ostebing him. The frog is swallowed heels first. Whether this is a preference on the part of the snake or whether it is because this is the first part overtaken and haid hold of, I do not know. When caught the poor frog cries out in the most pitiful terror. Then the struggle of life and death begins, with determined animal instinct on the part of the snake; may, I might say with devilish triumph—for he knows that victory is sure in the end—and elmost human horror on the frog's part. The instant a snake seizes a hind leg it is swallowed, and the hard part of the job is to get hold of the other leg without releasing the one be already has. The frog soon finds it is useless to struggle to release the leg aiready swal lowed by the snake, and seems to realize that its only hope is to keep the leg that is free out of that horrible mouth which has such wonderful suction power. I once saw a garter snake push a frog over thirty yards endeavoring to force the leg of the frog that was free against some obstruction, that it might get a hold upon that also. It finally succeeded, and the struggle was soon over after that. When both hind legs are once in the snake's power a deeper horror seems to take possession of the poor little creature who has battled so hard for life; its eyes dilate with terror and assume a glassy stare, its whole body is stupefied, paralyzed with an awful dread of its impending fate. The snake does not swallow; it crawls over its prey. It does so by means of strongly con-tracting muscles in the throat.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE

THE GAZETTE, chronologically, is in the NINETIETH year of its existence, and is not only the oldest paper in the State, but, with few

Notwithstanding the fulness of its years, it has kept, and will continue to keep, abreast of the times in all that pertains to a NEWS paper, furnishing its readers daily with a perfect mirror of passing events

Its facilities for obtaining news as they increase are taken advantage of and used for the benefit of its readers, who are thus kept thoroughly posted as to all that is of interest politically, socially, financially or commercially.

Special attention is given to matters concerning the State and its welfare, while its local columns contain all that is of the slightest

Its regular correspondence from Washington and Richmond are features of peculiar interest, as attested by the eagerness with which they are read and copied by other papers, while its editorial department, conducted with reference to the best interests of the city, State and country, will continue to advocate what is believed to be right,

With a view to the interest of merchants, farmers and all interested, its commercial columns are carefully edited and its market reports are acknowledged by all to be faithful and accurate.

State, and in all parts of the country where Virginians have located, there will the GAZETTE generally be found, and thus as an advertising medium it has few equals outside the large cities.
